

To allow the NAB to cause XM Radio to curtail any of its services would do irreparable damage to our freedom of choice. There is an obvious reason for our choosing to pay for this service, namely because it is so far superior to what conventional boradcasters offer, and the NAB has no right to infringe on our rights. Let them worry about how miserable they make our lives by bombarding us with mindless commercials and drivel.

Richard Tomlinson